History of the Senior Class

On September, in the year 1929, a group of merry, care-free boys and girls entered the portals of Lincolnton High School, for the purpose of preparing for the future and learning to meet competently the things that it held in store for them. Each and every one of the members of our senior class will always cherish that memorable day on which we made our entrance to a school that is regarded as one of the outstanding establishments of the State of North Carolina. That first year was a hard one, but we were rewarded for all of our labor, when at the end of the year, we knew that we had won the admiration of our teachers and fellow students.

We began our second year of high school with a great deal of confidence. With the aid and guidance of our worthy officers and by laboring diligently and industriously we finished the Sophomore year of our high school career very creditable indeed.

Our Junior year began with the election of our class officers. With Elmore Goodson as president, and Mary Robinson, Julia Schronce and Colleen Gabriel as able assistants, we began our work with all seriousness. We worked faithfully in order to obtain money with which to finance the Junior-Senior Banquet. A great many parties, festivals, and entertainments were given for this purpose. The banquet, which was given at Lithia Inn, was enjoyed very much by every one present. At the close of the year, marshals, which were chosen from the Junior class, figured in commencement.

In 1933 our class, having grown rapidly during the last two years, has become very large. With Paul Mundy as the able executive of our Senior class, we have met with success all our requirements and have quickly accomplished all that we have undertaken. In spite of the fact that our school term is only eight months in length, we have studied diligently and covered all of our work.

With Sallie Brown Clark as editor-in-chief, our high school annual, THE PINE BURR, has been finished, and we are greatly relieved at finding one of our most difficult problems successfully completed.

Our High School career is quickly drawing to a close, and we know that soon we must part. We have spent four years in diligent preparation for the future, and although we do not know what the future holds for us, we are unafraid for we know that we have done our best and will continue to do so, and no man can do more.

HELEN BEAM,
Historian.

Senior Class of '33

Our school days now are passed and gone,
And yet we linger here,
And all the joys that we have known,
Ring in our memories clear.

We think of classmates true and dear,
With whom we have to part,
Of teachers who have helped us on,
Each with a grateful heart.

We have reached the parting of the way,
That we have trod so long,
Each has his goal toward which he strives,
And so we hasten on.

So, High School days, we say farewell,
Days gone to come no more,
But, in future years, when memory turns,
We'll live you o'er and o'er.

M. LUCILE HESTER,
Class Poet.

Senior Class Prophecy

(Being extracts from the diary of Margaret Brevard)

JUNE 1, 1947—How weary I am from having slaved all winter with the reports of the United States Fire Insurance Company. I had no idea that being promoted to the main office in Philadelphia would mean even greater responsibility. Well, vacation is here and I shall travel and travel and forget how weary I am of reports and figures.

JUNE 2—As I was eating lunch in the dining car, just after leaving Philadelphia, I happened to look down the aisle from me and there I saw a familiar face. Could this changed pompous creature be Billy Grigg? Just then he recognized me and joined me. He said he was congressman from North Carolina. Seeing Billy made me think of Lincolnton. Billy informed me that Forace Richards is the newly elected sheriff. I know he will make a good one. Tonight when I got off the train and started to call a taxi, some one called me by my first name. Who in the world knew me way up here? When I looked around it was Bill Jetton, who took me to my hotel in his Rolls Royce. And he said he and Mrs. Jetton would call for me at six o'clock to take me to his fashionable Fifth Avenue restaurant. Ah! already in society! While eating we were talking over "old times," asking about our old school friends. They told me that Glenn Lacky and Franklin Anderson owned a large theater on Broadway, and that Linda Warlick was the director of their orchestra in the theater. Also that Helen Beam was the matron at Columbia University. Well, it seems as if New York has all of our school-mates. What a glorious evening I have had!

JUNE 3—This morning Linda Warlick took me to an exclusive dress shoppe—the owner was none other than Frances Warlick. Another surprise! This afternoon we went to a show. The picture was "Two Lovers" and the star was Paul Moore, who has made quite a success in Hollywood. "The Twins" was the first vaudeville announcement; two girls tripped out—"the Jenkins sisters!" I just had to say it aloud. Linda said they had played all over the world. Tonight we went to the Opera. Pauline McGee sang there and was applauded more than any of the other singers. This did not surprise me very much, because I remembered how well she sang while in Old Lincolnton High.

JUNE 4—Today my friends went with me to the train. I had some business to attend to in South Bend, Indiana. On my way I stopped at Cincinnati, Ohio. Here I decided to go to South Bend by airplane. Goodness, my pilot was John Yoder, and I surely felt safe. He told me that Ralph Mullen and Julius Hoffman were also pilots at this airport. On our trip I turned on the radio and the announcer for the Columbia Broadcasting Station was George Lingerfelt. He was on day duty and his brother, Melvin, was on night duty. We landed safely and I went straight to a palatial hotel owned and operated by Robert Jonas. I know I shall enjoy my stay.

JUNE 5—Notre Dame played Navy here today. As I had never seen them play I went. I'll never regret seeing that wonderful game. Bill Mauney was the coach. Daniel Lockman and Guy Keener were the assistant coaches. Paul Kistler and Wade Hallman are the basketball coaches there also. After the game I went down to speak to Bill. Bill had never married, so he asked me to go out with him to dinner. He told me that John Rudisill coached at Tulane. These boys surely had a good beginning; no wonder they are such a success. Bill said he was going to Chicago tomorrow and for me to go with him and get the biggest surprise of my life.

JUNE 6—We reached Chicago about ten o'clock, took a sight-seeing bus to go around the city. The driver was Hal Schronce. Just think, Hal from Lincolnton! Therefore I really enjoyed my ride. This afternoon I went to the ball game. And did I get a surprise! Charles Tilson played second base and Elmore Goodson third. Charles is quite famous now and always plays a grand game of ball, but that is not unusual. We had a good time at the hotel tonight. Charles came over and Elmore and Mrs. Goodson came also. So we had a party. They told us lots of news about our old class friends. Julia Schronce is coach of a girls' basketball team. Lillian Leonard is an artist and has won much fame with her exhibitions. Ruth Beam is head nurse at John Hopkins Hospital. Woodrow Armstrong got rich on an electrical invention. Calvin Padgett is a famous doctor and his wife, the former Colleen Gabriel, helps him much in his profession. What a day of surprises!

JUNE 7—Today I left for Washington. On the train I picked up the New York Sun. I had to look several times to believe my own eyes, because Paul Mundy was the editor and Willie Ramsey was sports editor. On the sports page I saw in big headlines, "Cecil Sigmon Plays Wonderful Game For Army." I bet he still smiles when he gets tackled. On the society page I saw an account of a big reception, given in honor of New York's governor. The hostess was Shasta Abernethy. Shasta is a society leader now. I was startled by the announcement of the marriage of Bonnie Crooks to a New York lawyer. When I got to Washington today I went to a hotel and rested for about an hour. Then I went down to the hotel beauty parlor. Dorothy Stroup was the owner. Here Hattie Lee Costner, who is a partner with Dorothy, gave me a new permanent, the best one I have ever had. I'm glad chance led me here, for they told me that Lucile Hester had studied abroad and had become a famous poetess. They also told me that Kathleen Campbell remains a school teacher in Lincolnton, N. C. Sallie Brown Clark lives here in Washington, the wife of a famous lawyer. After I got my permanent I called Sallie Brown. She invited me to her house to spend some time with her. Tonight, being Saturday, we went to town, as we used to do in Lincolnton. Ralph Cashion and Floyd Duncan own a very chic French shoe store. I had not planned to buy any shoes, but when I learned this I just had to. The fiftieth surprise was a large grocery store owned by Charlie Baker. When we got home tonight Sara Padgett was there to greet us. She entertained us with stories of her life as society editor for a large newspaper. The door bell rang and in walked Barbara Hinson and Dorothy Perkins. Gee! it looked as if we were going to have a party. Barbara has won international fame as a pianist. Dorothy is a very successful journalist in Washington. I had to pinch myself to know that I was not dreaming.

JUNE 8—We slept late this morning. At eleven o'clock we went to church and what a sermon! Wilson Cauble was the preacher,—he surely has changed. From him we learned that Louise Gaston is now dean at Greensboro College and that Wilvie Ewing is a matron at an orphanage. When we came home I happened to pick up a toy monkey sitting on a table. I looked on the bottom and there in distinct letters I read, "Made by Hall Sullivan Co." Sallie Brown told me he is becoming quite wealthy. Tonight we sat on the front porch and talked over our school days. Sallie Brown asked me if I remembered Sue Lockman. Of course I did. Well, she told me that Sue is a model in a New York fashion show. J. W. Kiser is the owner of a large circus, and Hoke Heavner is his partner. I surely would like to see this show. Harry Mullen owns a ranch in Texas and his neighbor, Hunter Rudisill owns one also. These boys must be lost away out there. Helen Murphy teaches school in the mountains and is loved by all her pupils and I don't blame them. Florene Bynum and Virginia Bynum own a chain of Bynum Five and Ten Cent Stores over the state of North Carolina. Mary Robinson is a lawyer in Washington. I surely could have listened to this all night, but one must sleep.

JUNE 9—I have heard lots of news today, so pay special attention. I saw in the paper this morning that Martha Haynes has taken her class of girls to Canada to enter the ice skating contests in November. Martha's girls have won many trophies. I also heard today that Virginia Clark is making a trip around the world in an Austin. If she succeeds she will receive a large sum of money. Margaret Canipe writes poems for The World, a newspaper here in Washington. Irene Lineberger, Beulah Robinson, Marjorie Robinson and Ruth Link own the Canary Lunch Rooms, a thriving business. Ruth Elrod went as a missionary to China last year. Georgia Hovis is a French teacher in New Orleans. Grace Keever is private secretary for the Governor of North Carolina. Mary Alice Reep owns a Florist Shoppe. Henry Houser is the architect who planned Sallie Brown's house. Kathryn Quickle is an interior decorator. Bernice McGinnis has a girls' basketball team that will compete with any team in the South. Lurlyne Knight is an actress for The Little Theater in Charlotte, N. C. Carl Lacky owns a drug store in Lincolnton, N. C. Maxine Styers sells perfume imported from Paris. Virginia Hovis is hostess for a large cafe in New York. Pauline Houser is another teacher that came from Lincolnton High School, teaching in Queens College in Charlotte, N. C. Louise Hippe clerks in a large department store here. Evelyne Roach married a missionary and is in India doing a great work. Aggie Vay McGinnis has a sandwich shop here in Washington.

JUNE 10—I'm back in Philadelphia now. When I came back to my office today I read a joke book that some one had put on my desk. It was written by Pearl Stowe. That was just like her—always saying something funny. There was also a letter from a farm implement company for me to answer. The president was Clyde Abernethy and Vice-President Frank Houser. When I read the paper I saw where Blanche Wise was married in England to a prince. Well, what a wonderful vacation! I've heard from every one of my old school-mates. I think I'd like another one just like it. Wonder what the boss would say to such a request?

MARGARET BREVARD.

Class Prophet.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Seniors of 1933, do will and bequeath the following things to our lower classmates, hoping they will each use them to the best of their advantage:

We, Margaret Brevard and Sallie Brown Clark, do hereby will our ability of getting to school on time to Martha Mauney and Josie Padgett, hoping they won't have to run as we did.

I, Bonnie Crooks, do hereby will my position on the basketball team to Pauline McGinnis, hoping she may grow tall enough to fill it.

I, Clyde Abernathy, do will and bequeath my ability to work geometry to William Wilkerson.

I, Georgia Hovis, do will and bequeath my little dimples to Pauline Baker.

I, Mary Robinson, do hereby will my fatness to Otilleen Robinson, hoping she will not be teased as much as I have been.

I, Dot Perkins, will my small stature to Pinky Shronce.

I, Franklin Anderson, do hereby will my wavy hair to "Palie" Shuford in order that she might not have to worry about waving hers anymore.

We, Colleen Gabriel and Shasta Abernathy, will our places in the National Honorary Society to L. C. Nixon and Ebb Rudisill.

I, Louise Hipp, will my senior dignity to Edna Mace.

I, Guy Keener, do will and bequeath my ability to learn French to "Tuck" Lockman.

I, Irene Lineberger, do hereby will my knowledge of history to Ruth Ewing.

I, Linda Warlick, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get to band practice on time to Georgette Brown.

I, John Rudisill, do hereby will my title, "Underworld," to Eddie Pierce, so he can start the racket.

I, Cecil Sigmon, do hereby will my ability to get to school on time to Claude "Simon" Broome.

I, Bernice McGinnis, do hereby will and bequeath my title as "Little Bit" to Pauline Baker.

I, J. Lee Hoffman, do hereby will my ability to study ninth English under Miss Townsend to Craig Sigmon.

I, Ralph Mullen, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to pass subjects in high school to Thomas Boggs, with the hope that some day he will become a senior.

I, Billy Grigg, do hereby will and bequeath to Lee Wolf Starnes my curly hair, so that the girls may find him even more attractive and rid him of his bashfulness.

I, Hoke Heavner, hereby will and bequeath my ability to talk in study hall to Ralph Brown.

I, Wilvie Ewing, do hereby will my knowledge of French to Johnsie Hallman.

I, Sara Padgett, do hereby leave my nickname, "Red," to Bobby Roseman so that red hair will remain in the school.

I, Pauline Houser, do hereby will my senior dignity to Mary Sue Childers.

I, Helen Murphy, do hereby will and bequeath my little red, white and blue striped sweater to Coach Smith.

I, Stella Jenkins, do hereby will my ability to pop chewing gum to "Little Mary Self," hoping she will not drive her family crazy as I have.

I, Aileen Jenkins, do hereby will my title as the "It Girl" to Otilleen Robinson.

I, Margaret Canipe, do hereby will my slenderness to Pauline Baker.

I, Florene Bynum, do hereby will my knowledge of Bible to Smith Lee, provided he will become a preacher.

I, Wilson Cauble, do hereby will my place on the bench and my hair tonic to Russell Dellinger.

I, Virginia Hovis, do hereby will my red, curly hair to Mattie Harrill.

I, Frances Warlick, do hereby will my ability to play the piano to Hugh Putman, hoping he will enjoy it as much as I have.

I, Floyd Duncan, do hereby will my knowledge of algebra to Claude Broome.

I, Sue Lockman, do hereby will my blow gum to Johnnie Link, hoping she gets as much fun out of it as I did.

I, Grace Keever, do hereby will my ability to type to Almetta Cooke.

I, Forace Richards, do will and bequeath my job in the athletic office, at lunch, to Steve Barineau.

We, J. W. Kiser and Dan Lockman, do hereby will our ability to sing to Coach Smith, so he may be able to sing "Old Suzanna."

I, Henry Houser, do hereby will and bequeath my ability of being late to band practice to "Gorilla" Nixon.

I, Lucile Hester, do hereby will my ability to give oral reports in English to Martha Henderson.

I, Hal Schronce, do hereby will my old history book to Nellie Sue Wise, hoping she won't have to use it two years.

I, Marjorie Robinson, do hereby will my worries over exams to Willie Mae Avery.

I, Pauline McGee, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to sell tickets at the football games to Annie Page, hoping that she won't have to run up and down the sidelines asking for change as much as I have.

I, Bobbie Hinson, do hereby will my ability to play the saxophone to L. C. Hovis.

I, Aggie Vay McGinnis, do hereby will my smiling face to Edna Mace.

I, Hall Sullivan, do hereby will my seat in history to Beatrice Weaver.

I, Hunter Rudisill, do hereby will my job as bell boy to James Shives.

I, Ruth Beam, do hereby will to Nellie Costner my ability to get to school on time, hoping they won't get her for speeding as many times as they did me.

I, Kathleen Campbell, do hereby will my place in the Honorary Society to Ophelia Lippard.

I, Melvin Lingerfelt, do hereby will my history work book and my ability to pass history to Sarah Cauble.

I, Lurlyne Knight, do hereby will my Ford to Margaret Long, hoping that she can get to school on time once in a while.

I, Woodrow Armstrong, will my position on the football team to "Fazzy" Little.

I, Helen Beam, will my blonde curls to Alice Robinson.

I, Virginia Bynum, do hereby will my ability of learning French to Grace Cline.

I, Parker Bennett, will to Berge Beam my reserved manners.

Ralph Cashion wills his ability of staying out of trouble to Jim Gamble.

I, Hattie Lee Costner, will my nickname, "Cotton Top," to Rose Hallman.

I, Wade Hallman, will my beautiful red hair to Chauncy D. Stroupe.

I, Paul Mundy, will my knowledge of history to "Rat" Rhyne.

I, Calvin Padgett, will my ability to attract the girls to C. B. Phillips.
I, Lois Punch, will my small stature to Ethel Hunter.
I, Catherine Quickle, will my gentle voice to Annette Childs.
I, Willie Ramsey, will my ability of getting along with the teachers to Bert Barlow.
I, Blanch Wise, will to Josie Padgett my curly brown hair.
I, Charles Tilson, will my winning smile to Walter Clark.
I, Lillian Leonard, do hereby will and bequeath my dimples to Jack McNeely.
I, Anne Bennett, will my quietness to Margaret Heafner.
I, Louise Gaston, will to Annette Childs the right to walk to school with Lee Wolf Starnes every morning.
I, Frank Houser, will my ability of walking fast to Martin Whistnant, so he may get around quicker.
I, Bill Mauney, will my school girl complexion to L. C. Nixon.
I, "Swede" Haynes, will my title as the "Meanest Girl" to Inez Seagle.

In Appreciation

If we could live up to the standard Mr. Pickens has set before us, what more could we ask?

The Senior Class cannot express in mere words their love and admiration for Miss Rainwater.

We appreciate all that Mr. Lowder has done for our class.

The Band

The Lincolnton High School Band was organized February 9, 1931, by Leonard M. Smith and S. Ray Lowder. When it was first organized it contained only about thirty members but it has now developed into a seventy-piece band. A Junior Band has been organized and consists of about twenty-five pieces. Last year the band entered the State Band Contest at Greensboro, N. C., and won first place in Class D. This year it is again entering the State contest but in Class B. We have high hopes of bringing back the championship in our class. The band owes its progress to Mr. Lowder, who has worked with it faithfully the two years it has been organized.

MISS STIREWALT: "Tony, why does Missouri stand at the head of the mule raising in this country?"

TONY: "Please, Miss Stirewalt, because the other end is too dangerous."

DINER: "You must be a little deaf, waiter."

WAITER: "No sir. Why sir?"

DINER: "Well, I distinctly ordered liver—not leather."

MRS. CARTER (at 1 A.M.): "Oh, Ralph, wake up! I can just feel there's a mouse in the room!"

HUSBAND (drowsily): "Well, just feel there's a cat, too, and go to sleep."

TEACHER: "Bill, can you tell me how matches are made?"

BILL: "No, Ma'am, but I don't blame you for asking."

TEACHER: "What do you mean?"

BILL: "Well, mother says that you have been trying to make a match for thirty years."

MR. LATHAM: "What is a censor?"

CECIL: "A censor is a man that goes from house to house to increase the population."

This is the story of Johnny McGuire, who ran through the town with his trousers on fire. He went to the doctor's and fainted with fright, when the doctor told him that his end was in sight.

WILLY: "Father, I've a notion to settle down and go in for raising chickens."

FATHER: "Better try owls. Their hours suit you better."

JUSTICE: "How did the accident happen?"
BILL MAUNEY: "I was just hugging a curve."
JUSTICE: "Yeah! That's the way most of them happen."

DEALER: "Somebody stole three sets of harness out of my store."
POLICEMAN: "Did the thief leave any traces?"
DEALER: "No, he took the traces, too!"

OLD HEN: "Let me give you a piece of good advice."
YOUNG HEN: "What is it?"
OLD HEN: "An egg a day keeps the axe away."

For success, keep your eyes open and your mouth shut.
For eating grapefruit, reverse the process.

"When I see you I always think of Miss Rainwater."
"But I am not in the least like Miss Rainwater."
"Oh, yes. You both owe me 50c."

LANDLADY: "And how do you feel now?"
LODGER: "Just terrible. I feel as if I were going to die."
LANDLADY: "Well, you can't die here; this is the living room."

SARAH: "Is it dangerous to drive with one hand?"
TUCK: "You bet. Many a guy has run into a church doing that."
